Quizine is a fictitious game-variety show in ABC that tests people's knowledge of food. Such food-related topics include how to cook, food science, as well as ethnic cuisines. Some episodes also include guests related to food such as professional food scientists and celebrity chefs.

For episodes that feature recipes during airtime, the ingredients will be advertised ahead of the episode so that viewers will have the chance to buy the ingredients before the episode airs, allowing them to prepare to cook in real time with the episode.
